AGENDA ITEM #7

CARSON WATER SUBCONSERVANCY DISTRICT

TO: Board of Directors

FROM: Reed Cozens

DATE: February 18, 2026

SUBJECT: Agenda Item # 7 – For Discussion Only: Friends of Hope Valley Recognition

DISCUSSION: In their Winter 2026 newsletter (see attached), the Friends of Hope Valley (FOHV) discussed their organization's success over the past 41 years in preserving the scenic, recreational and historic uses of the valley. They stated how it is time for the organization to dissolve and let others carry the torch forward. This organization fought the good fight to protect and preserve Hope Valley from various development proposals, and we owe them a debt of gratitude for these now-public lands.

The CWSD Board will present a Certificate of Achievement to the Friends of Hope Valley to recognize their exemplary service and shine a light on this amazing organization.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION: Receive and file.

FRIENDS OF HOPE VALLEY

Hope Valley Friends

Friends of Hope Valley was created 41 years ago to preserve the scenic, recreational and historic use of the valley. Although there will always be another issue or fight it's time for our organization to dissolve. Through our efforts most all of the valley is now public lands. It's now up to the Forest Service and California Department of Fish and Wildlife to maintain natural environment of the area.

Hope Valley is one of the most scenic valleys in the Sierra. The Washoe people lived there peacefully for 10,000's of years.

Life changed in the meadows and surrounding Sierra Nevada mountains as the folks heading west prosperity in the valley and settled in the area. Mining and ranching lead to a land grab within the valley. Ranches spend summers in the valley grazing their cattle and sheep. They named the valleys Hope, Faith and Charity.

In the 1980's change began to take place. People started to realize that these beautiful valleys needed to be protect from development. A group of inspired young people formed a group to protect the lands from development, lead by John and Patty Brissenden owners of the Sorensen's Resort, Friends of Hope Valley. In 1986 Friends of Hope Valley was formally established.

This dedicated group of people had already defeated a proposal to construct a transmission line through Hope Valley heading to the west. Again in 1987 AT&T proposed a fiber-optic line through the valley. At the same time the ranchers no longer had interest in grazing the valleys. It quickly became the FOHV goal to create public lands in the Valley's.

With a lot of effort and push from FOHV the lands in the valley became public lands. In 1988 proposition 70 funded money to purchase land from Picketts junction to Blue Lakes Road. In 1989 California Fish and Wildlife (CDFW) purchased 2,500 acres of land in the valley. That same year Congress appropriated four million dollars to purchase land in both Hope and Faith Valleys.

In 1999 FOHV fended off a Cal Trans proposal to install and electric changeable message sign on Highway 88 at Picketts Junction. Again in 2023 the group defeated the proposal.

In 2000 CDFW began plans to create an "All Access" Trail and Fishing piers at Picketts Junction. FOHV worked closely with CDFW on this project.

In 2004 conflicts began on various roads in the valley. Forestdale Creek and Blue Lakes roads were at issue. It wasn't until 2010 that Forest Service came out with a Winter Travel Plan for the area, which involved closing most all roads in the valley to snowmobiles, leaving Blue Lake and Forestdale roads open. (Forestdale road is only open early season). It was a hard battle to fight. FOHV prevailed in the end.

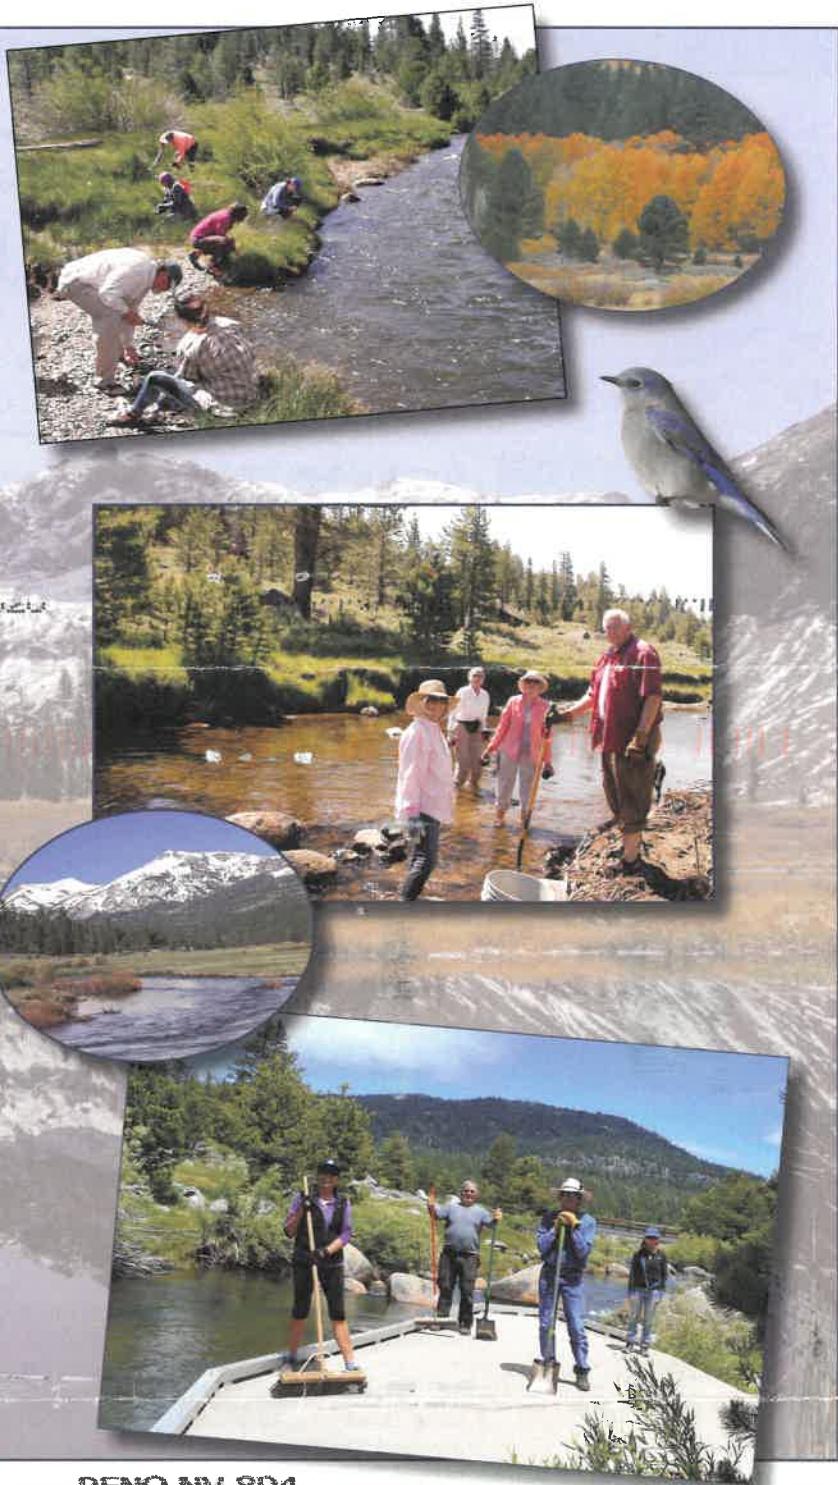

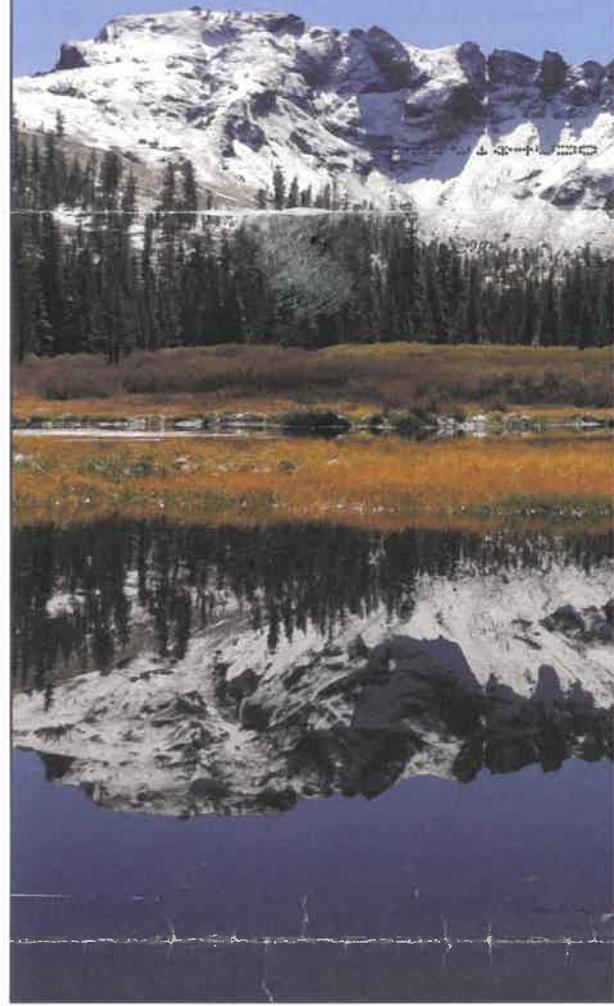

Years of cattle grazing caused environmental damage to the land. The banks of the West Fork of the Carson River were incised. Planting willows along the banks to protect erosion began as an annual "workday project" for FOHV members. For over 20 years FOHV has been working on this project. Willows thrived, many of the banks became stable. A few of the larger areas needed more than just willows. More extensive projects began and continue to this day.

Other projects included fencing to protect the fragile meadows. FOHV has also sponsored a survey of beaver dams and activities as a way to collect data on their populations along the West Carson and all of its tributaries above 7000'. This study demonstrated a major decrease in the beaver population in the last few years.

We appreciate your support of FOHV. For over 30 years we have been at the forefront of efforts to preserve and protect the scenic beauty, natural ecosystems and recreation values of Hope Valley. The work is not complete, there's always another battle to fight. It's time for FOHV to step aside and let others continue with our efforts. There are several organizations that are already doing good work in the valley: Alpine Watershed Group, Sierra Nevada Alliance and American Rivers are just a few.

Thank you

for many years of support!

8) OWNERSHIP

Any reports, histories, studies, tests, manuals, instructions, photographs, negatives, blue prints, plans, maps, data, system designs, computer code (which are intended to be considered under this Contract), or any other documents or drawings, prepared, or in the course of preparation, by RCI (or its subcontractors) in performance of its obligations under this Contract shall be the exclusive property of CWS and all such materials shall be delivered into CWS's possession by RCI upon completion, termination, or cancellation of this Contract. RCI shall not use, willingly allow, or cause to have such materials used for any purpose other than performance of RCI's obligations under this Contract without the prior written consent of CWSD. CWSD shall defend, indemnify, and hold harmless RCI for any reuse of work documents on other projects without written permission of RCI.

9) CONTRACT TERMINATION

- (a) Termination Without Cause. This Contract may be terminated upon written notice by mutual consent of both parties and unilaterally by either party without cause. The parties acknowledge and agree that in the event Federal funding to CWSD for this Contract is eliminated or suspended or otherwise delayed, then in said event, this Contract shall automatically be terminated.
- (b) Cause Termination for Default or Breach. A default or breach may be declared with or without termination. This Contract may be terminated by either party upon written notice of default or breach to the other party as follows:
  - (1) If RCI fails to provide or satisfactorily perform any of the conditions, work, deliverables, goods, or services called for by this Contract within the time requirements specified in this Contract or within any granted extension of those time requirements; or
  - (2) If any State, county, city, or federal license, authorization, waiver, permit, qualification or certification required by statute, ordinance, law, or regulation to be held by RCI to provide the goods or services required by this Contract is for any reason denied, revoked, debarred, excluded, terminated, suspended, lapsed, or not renewed; or
  - (3) If RCI becomes insolvent, subject to receivership, or becomes voluntarily or involuntarily subject to the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court; or
  - (4) If CWSD materially breaches any material duty under this Contract and any such breach impairs RCI's ability to perform.
- (c) Time to Correct. Termination upon declared default or breach may be exercised only after service of formal written notice and the subsequent failure of the defaulting party within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of that notice to provide evidence, satisfactory to the aggrieved party, showing that the declared default or breach has been corrected.
- (d) Winding Up Affairs Upon Termination. In the event of termination of this Contract for any reason, the parties agree that the provisions of this Section survive termination:
  - (1) The parties shall account for and properly present to each other all claims for fees and expenses and pay those which are undisputed and otherwise not subject to set off under this Contract. Neither party may withhold performance of winding up provisions solely based on nonpayment of fees or expenses accrued up to the time of termination;
  - (2) RCI shall satisfactorily complete work in progress at the agreed rate (or a pro rata basis if necessary) if so requested by the CWSD;
  - (3) RCI shall execute any documents and take any actions necessary to effectuate an assignment of this Contract if so requested by the CWSD; and
  - (4) RCI shall preserve, protect, and promptly deliver into CWSD possession all information in accordance with Section 8, Ownership.

10) RIGHTS UPON TERMINATION

Upon termination of this Contract, RCI shall transfer, assign and make available to CWSD or CWSD's representative, all property and materials in their possession or control belonging to and paid for by CWSD, subject, however, to any rights of third parties of which RCI has informed CWSD.

11) BREACH REMEDIES.

Failure of either party to perform any obligation of this Contract shall be deemed a breach. Except as otherwise provided for by law or this Contract, the rights and remedies of the parties shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or equity, including but not limited to actual damages.

The parties acknowledge or agree that the contract was written and agreed to by both parties.

Prior to the initiation of any litigation the parties agree to mediate.

12) PUBLIC RECORDS

Pursuant to NRS 239.010, information or documents received from RCI may be open to public inspection and copying. CWSD has a legal obligation to disclose such information unless a particular record is made confidential by law. RCI may label specific parts of an individual document as a "trade secret" or "confidential" in accordance with NRS 333.333, provided that RCI thereby agrees to indemnify and defend CWSD for honoring such a designation. The failure to so label any document that is released by CWSD shall constitute a complete waiver of any and all claims for damages caused by any release of the records.

This MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING (MOU) is hereby made and entered into by and between the Bureau of Land Management Sierra Front Field Office, California Department of Fish and Wildlife, Alpine County, Alpine County Sheriff's Office, Alpine Watershed Group, Carson Water Subconservancy District, Lahontan Water Board, Nevada Offroad Association, Pine Nut Mountains Trail Association, Washoe Tribe of Nevada and Washoe Environmental Protection Department hereinafter referred to as "The Cooperators," and the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), Forest Service, Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest, hereinafter referred to as the "Forest Service."

Background: For many years, local partners and the general public have advocated for the Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest's Carson Ranger District to more actively manage the East Fork Carson Hot Springs Area. There is a 2007 East Carson River Strategy document, authored by the Carson Ranger District, which partially addressed public concern regarding recreation's impacts on the area, and several meetings over the past decade have been held to inform potential management actions that could be taken in the area.

Concerns about overuse and negative impacts of increased visitation in the area are made more complex by the remote nature of the area and difficulty of access for land managing agencies to mitigate these impacts. Vehicle routes into the project area have a steep grade and rocky terrain, requiring a four-wheel drive or relatively high clearance all-terrain vehicle, with boat access feasible during a narrow seasonal window. The existing vehicle user-created routes leading to the site from surrounding areas are not formal or recognized access points, which makes accessing the area to mitigate these issues with more active visitor use management strategies more difficult for land managing agencies in the project area. These access challenges, combined with the observed difficulties of managing high-volume recreation and visitor use within the nearby Tahoe Basin, have also heightened concerns among organizations represented in the planning committee regarding successful interagency management of the project area.

It was determined that a third-party facilitated collaborative planning process would be the most effective strategy for creating a suite of proposals with consensus from land management agencies as well as community members and key stakeholders.

Due to these concerns around recreational use of the area, the U.S. Forest Service, other land managing agencies in the project area, and community, organizational, and user-group partners decided to apply for technical assistance from the National Park Service (NPS) – Rivers, Trails, and Conservation Assistance (RTCA) program. As a primary aspect of the NPS-RTCA's technical assistance, RTCA staff were asked to act as a neutral, third-party entity to facilitate group discussions of a planning committee of partners. A planning committee was formed to create a suite of proposals to be implemented throughout the project area as long-term solutions to existing issues, and to guide future management planning at the project area. The effort intends to protect the remote feel of the area and safety of its users. It aims to promote responsible recreation practices among users. Additionally, a priority of the effort is to maintain the conservation and protection of the area's natural resources, including the river and its water quality.

To facilitate long-term implementation of these management recommendations, the committee also reached consensus on creating an official Memorandum of Understanding (MOU). This MOU will outline the foundation of a volunteer-based partnership of community groups, organizations, and land-management agencies to clean and monitor the site on a predetermined interval of time.

Title: East Fork Carson River Hot Springs Management

I. PURPOSE: The purpose of this MOU is to document the cooperation between the parties to collaboratively manage, maintain and monitor the East Fork Carson River Hot Springs area and access to the area. In addition, this MOU is intended to document the support for the East Fork Carson Hot Springs Area Proposal (2025) that was a collectively developed action plan. Collaborative actions this MOU covers includes site clean-ups, transporting workers and materials, working with media to disseminate accurate information, placing of signage, and monitoring of the area. The parties to this MOU will perform in accordance with the following provisions.

II. STATEMENT OF MUTUAL BENEFIT AND INTERESTS:

The U.S. Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management (BLM) manage lands that access the East Fork Carson River Hot Springs Area. Both agencies have engaged The Cooperators in the creation of the East Fork Carson Hot Springs Area Proposal (2025) with the intent of increasing maintenance and management of the area. The U.S. Forest Service, BLM and The Cooperators all have interest in the planning area and in improved maintenance and management of the lands in the project area as detailed in the East Fork Carson Hot Springs Area Proposal (2025).

In consideration of the above premises, the parties agree as follows:

III. THE COOPERATORS SHALL:

- A. Perform in accordance with the East Fork Carson Hot Springs Area Proposal (2025) attached as Exhibit A.

IV. THE FOREST SERVICE SHALL:

- A. Perform in accordance with the East Fork Carson Hot Springs Area Proposal (2025) attached as Exhibit A.

All costs that may arise from activities covered by, mentioned in, or pursuant to this Memorandum of Understanding will be assumed by the Participant that incurs them, unless otherwise expressly agreed in a future written arrangement in accordance with applicable laws. All activities undertaken pursuant to this Memorandum of Understanding are subject to the availability of funds, personnel and other resources of each Participant.

The personnel designated by a Participant for the execution of this Memorandum of Understanding will work under the orders and responsibility of that Participant and any other organization or institution to which the personnel already belongs, at all times maintaining any preexisting employment relationship only with that Participant and organization or institution, and not with any other Participant.

F. ASSURANCE REGARDING FELONY CONVICTION OR TAX DELINQUENT STATUS FOR CORPORATE ENTITIES. This agreement is subject to the provisions contained in the Department of Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2012, P.L. No. 112-74, Division E, Section 433 and 434 as continued by Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2013, P.L. Accordingly, by entering into this agreement The Cooperators acknowledge that they: 1) do not have a tax delinquency, meaning that they are not subject to any unpaid Federal tax liability that has been assessed, for which all judicial and administrative remedies have been exhausted or have lapsed, and that are not being paid in a timely manner pursuant to an agreement with the authority responsible for collecting the tax liability, and (2) have not been convicted (or had an officer or agent acting on its behalf convicted) of a felony criminal violation under any Federal law within 24 months preceding the agreement, unless a suspending and debarring official of the USDA has considered suspension or debarment is not necessary to protect the interests of the Government. If The Cooperators fail to comply with these provisions, the Forest Service will annul this agreement and may recover any funds The Cooperators have expended in violation of sections 433 and 434.

Mercury from historic gold mining still affects Carson River watershed and waterfowl

University researchers link high river flows, floods to renewed mercury exposure in resident wood ducks

Long assumed by some to have been diluted and washed away over time, mercury contamination from 19th-century gold mining is still moving through Nevada's Carson River, with levels in some waterfowl reaching up to 60 times federal safety thresholds for human consumption, according to a new study.

The toxic metal remains locked into riverbanks and sediments, where flood years remobilize and reintroduce it into the aquatic food web, researchers from the University of Nevada, Reno's College of Agriculture, Biotechnology & Natural Resources found.

The study analyzed more than 15 years of feather samples from resident wood ducks, a nonmigratory species that lives in the Carson River watershed year-round and is commonly hunted for food. The analysis revealed up to 66 micrograms per gram of methylmercury, a highly toxic form of mercury produced by bacteria, far exceeding the Food and Drug Administration's safety level of 1 microgram per gram and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's limit of 0.3 micrograms per gram for human consumption.

"This mercury didn't disappear — it's still there, and high water actually makes the problem worse," said Perry Williams, the study's principal investigator and associate professor in the College's Department of Natural Resources & Environmental Science. "Nevada has no waterfowl consumption advisories despite these elevated levels, raising serious human health concerns."

Other researchers on the project include Mae Gustin, Morgan Byrne and Chris Nicolai. Gustin is co-principal investigator on the project and professor of environmental geochemistry, who has studied the effects of mercury pollution on ecosystems for three decades. Gustin and Williams also conduct research as part of the University's Experiment Station. Byrne is an alum who collected and analyzed environmental mercury samples as part of her master's thesis and is now a wildlife biologist for a consulting firm. Nicolai is a waterfowl biologist formerly with Delta Waterfowl and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service. He led the long-term monitoring of wood ducks along the river and provided thousands of feather samples collected over 16 years from both adults and ducklings.

The study was supported by the Nevada Department of Wildlife, the Nevada Waterfowl Association and a U.S. Department of Agriculture Hatch grant, with additional support from the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, Delta Waterfowl, Ducks Unlimited and Four Flyway Outfitters.

Published in the journal Science of The Total Environment, the study traced how mercury stored in Carson River sediment is reactivated during high-flow events, enters the aquatic food web, and accumulates in resident wood ducks and potentially in people who eat them.

Mercury stored in riverbanks is remobilized during high flows

Contrary to the assumption that time erases pollution, mercury does not break down over time. Instead, the study found that in the Carson River, it remains bound in riverbanks and sediment, where it can be released during high-flow and flood events. These conditions mobilize both total mercury and methylmercury, a more toxic form that can cross the blood-brain and placental barriers and is linked to neurological damage.

“Floods don’t just move water. They wake up the mercury that’s been sitting in these riverbanks,” Gustin said. “The wet-dry cycles create low-oxygen conditions that supercharge microbes and push them to convert mercury into this toxic methylmercury.”

Comstock-era stamp mills used mercury to process gold and silver ore, releasing large amounts of toxic metal into the Carson River watershed. #### Aquatic foods are the primary source of mercury exposure for wood ducks

To pinpoint how wood ducks are exposed, the researchers compared mercury levels in aquatic foods, including duckweed and invertebrates such as worms, insects and snails, with land-based corn and Russian olives. Aquatic sources showed far higher mercury levels, with invertebrates, a preferred food during breeding and brood-rearing, containing three times the Food & Drug Administration's safety limit for seafood.

“These findings help identify when wood ducks face the greatest mercury exposure, particularly during early life stages, that may influence long-term health,” Byrne said.

Ducklings carry higher mercury levels than adult birds

The study also found mercury levels roughly three times higher in young wood ducks than in their mothers, driven by both inherited and post-hatch exposure.

“Exposure begins before they hatch,” Williams said. “Mercury stored in adult females is transferred into developing eggs, giving ducklings an initial mercury burden at birth.

After hatching, ducklings feed heavily on aquatic invertebrates, which we found contain up to three times more mercury than federal safety limits.”

Building on earlier research, scientists have documented some of the highest streambank mercury concentrations ever measured in a natural ecosystem in the lower Carson River. Designated a Superfund site by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in 1990, the 330-square-mile region spans more than 130 miles of river across five Nevada counties and remains on the National Priorities List for long-term cleanup and monitoring.

Why wood ducks?

The research team selected wood ducks because they remain in the Carson River watershed year-round, making them reliable indicators of local mercury exposure rather than contamination picked up during migration.

Environmental samples, including duckweed, invertebrates and river sediments, were collected and analyzed for total mercury and methylmercury using a specialized mercury analyzer. Advanced statistical models then linked mercury in feathers to levels in edible breast tissue, accounting for natural variation and measurement uncertainty.

“Though not a perfect proxy for breast muscle, feathers were easier to collect and ethically sustainable,” said Gustin, the study’s lead mercury analyst.

A “wicked” ecological management problem

The researchers describe mercury management in the Carson River as a classic “wicked problem.” High-flow years mobilize mercury, but they also support agriculture and are linked to stronger waterfowl reproduction. Reducing flows could limit mercury exposure, but at significant economic and ecological costs.

“In the near term, consumption advisories for waterfowl are one of the most realistic tools available,” Williams said. “They don’t solve the contamination, but they do give people the information they need to make informed choices.”
